

Mental Health Support Services

Improving personal independence and achieving optimal mental health are the primary goals of our Community Residential Rehabilitation and Specialized Supportive Housing programs. Individuals with mental illness are given the opportunity to live in the community while receiving comprehensive mental health services. Focused and individualized treatment plans are designed to meet the needs of individuals based on the guiding principles of Community Supports Programs. Along with these guiding principles is the strong belief that most adults with chronic mental illness, even at the lowest functioning level, can live successfully in integrated community settings when adequate supports are provided.

Fayette Resources believes that creating successful living environments for individuals is best facilitated through transitioning them into the community as a collaborative effort between all agencies serving the individual and creating an intensive community support network. All of the agency's residential sites are operated according to the principles of least restrictive alternatives and with respect to the individuality, rights and dignity of everyone who receives this service. Accordingly, homelike facilities are utilized and each individual actively participates in the development of a plan of service with the goal of reaching one's personal optimal level of functioning in the community. While the major responsibility for success rests with each individual, Fayette Resources will provide the support and the environment necessary where the expectation of individual achievement, personal growth and personal responsibility are enhanced.

Fayette Resources has made an agency-wide commitment to the principles of self-determination (i.e. freedom, authority, support and responsibility). Individuals must be provided with choices and every opportunity should be given to promote their ability to make choices and access varied life experiences. Fayette Resources has demonstrated the commitment to self-determination by its beliefs and practices.
